Subject: proposed settlement for microsoft class action

Speaking as an Apple Macintosh owner and investor , let me say that the proposed settlement in both the class action suits in which Microsoft proposes to settle their case by not so subtly dangling a fat meatball in front of a starved school system and the federal antitrust suit, both appear to result in rewarding the perpetrator instead of punishing them and will result in continuing illegal, monopolistic behavior. I personally object to both and hope the respective judges will show truly judicious judgment.
